

Self-Test on Responsibility to Your Missionaries

Unless otherwise specified, on each question rate your missions team on a scale of 1-10 (with 10 being "Excellent" and 1 representing "Almost Nonexistent").

_____ We write our missionaries at least a "missionary family letter" regularly. (Give 2 points if you write annually, 6 points if you write quarterly, and 10 points if you write every month.)

_____ We send birthday, anniversary, and graduation cards to all of our missionaries and their children. (Add 10 bonus points if you include a personal note.)

_____ We phone/Skype our missionaries regularly.

_____ We send care packages to our missionaries. (Give 10 bonus points if you also send packages annually to your missionary kids [MKs] in college or the military.)

_____ We regularly ask our missionaries how we can help them, suggesting resources and services we could provide. (Give 10 bonus points for every special request you filled in the last year.)

_____ Give 10 points for every missionary someone from your church visited on the field during the past two years.

_____ We proactively assist in caring for our missionaries in crises.

_____ We acknowledge every report and personal letter from one of our missionaries with a personal response.

_____ We work with our missionaries to maximize their home-assignment time. (Give 10 bonus points if you help fund their continuing education.)

_____ We help our missionaries to obtain housing, transportation, and other needs when home.

_____ We work with our missionaries to integrate them into small groups at our church when they are on home assignment. (Give 5 bonus points if you actively integrate MKs, too.)

_____ Our mission team spends extended time in a personal interview with each of our missionaries or missionary couples whenever they are on home assignment.

_____ We know our missionaries' communication styles and try to design the most appropriate "showcase" opportunities when with us.
